

TRADITION, INNOVATION AND HIGH-QUALITY SERVICES

The firm CHIORINO was established in 1906 in Biella, Northern Italy. One of the four biggest conveyor and transmission belt producers today, the company – uniquely in the world – is still managed by members of the founding family after more than 100 years. Shortly after the fall of communism, the competition entered the Hungarian market. After trying to operate through different partnerships, CHIORINO established its own Hungarian subsidiary in 2005. Owing to the recent changes in the Hungarian market, CHIORINO is now the only company that runs its operation directly through its subsidiary. We continue to see a great potential in the Hungarian market. Thanks to the Hungarian and international industrial production companies, there is continuous demand for our products.

Of course, we have to continuously adjust our range of products and service quality to the needs of our buyers. CHIORINO's product range has undergone a major change during the last few years.

The HP conveyor belt family, developed for the food industry, has brought us a significant and constantly growing market share. Further more providing a longer lifecycle and hence lower costs for users, the HP product family also increases the safety of food production significantly.

The PT series developed in recent years for the printing industry has also created many new contacts for us also in this segment. The electronics industry generates a major part of Hungarian GDP, and thanks to our products developed for this segment, we have become leading suppliers of several electronics production companies operating in Hungary. We are aware that there are several production companies in the world that make high-quality products, so we have always made great efforts to improve our services. We believe this is what differentiates us from our competitors today. We always try to exactly understand our partners' needs. Proper products for specific tasks, at a fair price and always on time. Therefore, we do not only need clients, we are looking for partners. We are permanently in contact with our partners, consult with them and sometimes make proposals for better and more up-to-date solutions.

In order to further grow, we needed a new production site. During developing the new site, we made efforts to create a modern site that meets all the requirements of our age.

During the design and construction phase, it was an important aspect to apply modern construction materials, new engineering solutions and to use renewable energy. With these priorities in mind, we installed a heat-pump-based heating and cooling system, used precast reinforced concrete skeleton to cut down on construction time, high thermal insulation level sandwich panels that meet all fire protection regulations, as well as a solar power generating system integrated in the roof panel.

As a result of this investment project, we can tell that Chiorino Kft. has the most modern and most environmental-friendly conveyor and transmission belt production plant in Hungary. In addition to the design of the building, the raw materials used, the technological processes applied, as well as the technological equipment are all state of the art so that we cause the possible least harm to our environment.

Of course, we are very glad that we could build a modern, real 21-century production site under the New Széchenyi Plan, with the support of the European Union and co-financed by the European Regional Development Fund.

Thanks to the new plant, we can produce conveyor and transmission belts even more in line with market demand, in high quality and with more flexible delivery times.

Thanks to this project, we could maintain 14 jobs and create 12 new ones.
